

Drop in entries but standards are still high

1999

SEAVINGTON Gardening Club's annual show was held on Saturday in the Millennium Hall.

The number of exhibits was down from last year, but the quality was very good, the judge commenting on the vegetables in particular, saying they were the best she had judged this season.

The club also introduced a number of new classes to this year's schedule, with some success.

Laurie Uncles presented the awards and chairman Julie Sibley thanked everyone for exhibiting and supporting the club.
